CLINSYS CLINICAL RESEARCH, INC. ANNOUNCES KEY HIRES TO STRENGTHEN SERVICE OFFERING AND GLOBAL THERAPEUTIC STRATEGY: ANTHONY F. ABRUZZINI, Ph.D AS VICE PRESIDENT, GLOBAL REGULATORY SERVICES; LINDA PATRICIA MILLER, MD AS CHIEF MEDICAL OFFICER AND JOHN K. HOGAN, MPM AS PROJECT DIRECTOR FOR CNS

BERKELEY HEIGHTS, NEW JERSEY | 30 April 2007 - Clinsys Clinical Research, Inc., a therapeutically focused Clinical Research Organization, today announced the appointment of Anthony Abruzzini, Ph.D as Vice President, Global Regulatory Services; Linda Patricia Miller, MD as Chief Medical Officer; and John Hogan, MPM as Project Director for the Central Nervous System (CNS) therapeutic area franchise.

"I am excited to have three highly experienced professionals join the Clinsys team," said David E. Williams, Chief Executive Officer of Clinsys Clinical Research. Mr. Williams continues, "The addition of Dr. Abruzzini and Dr. Miller, who both bring substantial clinical and management expertise, will be extremely beneficial in continuing to establish Clinsys as an industry leader. John Hogan brings years of experience managing full service CNS projects."

Before joining Clinsys, Dr. Abruzzini, held a number of senior management positions in regulatory affairs and clinical development in the CRO and biotechnology sectors. Previously, he was Senior Vice President, Regulatory Services, with INC Research, Inc; Vice President, Clinical Development and Regulatory Affairs, at Encelle, Inc; Executive Director, Regulatory and Technical Services, at Quintiles, Inc. Dr. Abruzzini holds BA and MSE degrees from The Johns Hopkins University and a Ph.D in Immunology and Medical Microbiology from the University of Florida.

Dr. Miller held the positions of Director, Clinical Research, Oncology with Eisai, Inc. and Associate Director, Clinical Development with Organon, Inc. Dr. Miller holds an MD and MMS degrees from Rutgers Medical School. Dr. Miller is Board Certified in Pediatrics and was a Fellow in Pediatric Hematology/Oncology at Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center in New York City, NY.

John Hogan joins Clinsys having recently been with Sepracor, Inc. as Clinical Project Manager, CNS and was previously with INC Research, Inc. as Senior Clinical Trial Manager, CNS. Mr. Hogan holds a BS degree in Biology from Rutgers University and Masters in Project Management from Western Carolina University.

"Providing our sponsors the most qualified professionals to ensure the successful completion of their clinical development programs is our driving force. Therapeutic expertise combined with a complete understanding of the drug development process from the CRO and the sponsor's view is critical to ensuring our sponsors a successful clinical trial. Clinsys' therapeutic area teams have played key roles in advancing treatments in Oncology, CNS, Cardiovascular and Dermatology," said Mr. Williams.

"I am delighted that all three key additions to our team have extensive experience in both the CRO and Pharmaceutical industries, and with that valued experience each brings a thorough understanding of the challenges facing clinical trials and the know how to manage their success from both perspectives," said Mr. Williams.
